Selectmen's Meeting

GAZEBO LICENSE CANCELLED

A hearing was held on a liquor license now being held by Selectmen which was issued in the name of Club Gazebo and held by Graffiti Inc. No representative of the corporation or the owner of the building appeared. Selectmen noted that the club has not operated since the 1st of September and made a motion to that finding. Because of the above finding Selectmen voted unanimously to cancel the liquor license of the establishment.

MOSQUITO REPORT

Gary Benzon of Plymouth County Mosquito Control summarized by letter his activity of the past season as well as plans for the coming year. He said the employment of more workers, restricting spraying to nuisance areas, evening spraying and treatment to breeding areas by ground crews, many of the former problem areas are now termed "normal". 287,000 acres were covered in the past season in the County. VANDALISM AT NED'S POINT

Selectmen were informed that the light at Ned's Point had been twisted to point toward the woods and that vandals had damaged the grass area around the light. They will order the light be properly directed. Continuing vandalism at Ned's Point prompted a discussion of an earlier winter closing of the park. No decision was reached.

Editorial, D.C.J.

In one recent week $70,000 in personal belongings were stolen in daylight robberies in Mattapoisett.

In the words of one of the victims who might be your next door neighbor:

Fright, hysteria, anger and bitterness are a few of the emotions felt when someone forcefully enters, ransacks and burglarizes your home.

The intrusion experienced is devastating. Valuable possessions, sentiments and memories shattered, taken or destroyed. One privacy has been violated.

As victims of this crime, we hope each and everyone in town will do their part to deter this from happening to you.

A sincere thank you to the members of the Mattapoisett Police Department and Chief Moran for all their help. Their concern for our personal and emotional well-being was as appreciated as their extensive professional investigation.

We are indeed most fortunate to have such a competent and concerned police department protecting our community.

The shock of returning to a home, valued as a secure haven, and finding it looted; finding every room entered, searched and overturned is a nightmare that continues to haunt the victims long after they attempt to assess their loss. The loss of valuables collected through their own lifetime, their parents and grandparents, treasures which were handed down, is devastating. The loss of their feeling of security is worse.

In one of the recent breaks, the thief entered through the cellar window badly cutting a hand or arm in breaking the glass. Other accomplices were let in through the cellar door. A trail of blood throughout the house from cellar to attic showed the progress of the crime done in an afternoon. Pillow cases from the home were the bags used for the loot collected from every room. Everything not stolen was overturned if not taken and even private papers were scanned.

In that short span of time, in addition to money and valuables, a lifetime of memorabilia was lost, a grandmother's collection of spoons, a mother's favorite antique, and things of value greater than money, for they were connected with good memories of the past. Part of more than one lifetime is gone. Worse might have happened since one family member arrived home possibly while the thieves were looting it. Sensing the foreign presence in the house the minute the door was opened, he/she had the presence of mind to run next door and call the police. A more serious tragedy might have been averted by this very wise decision.

Chief of Police James Moran and the entire Mattapoisett Police force, you will note in the victim's letter, are given great praise. They responded quickly and were thoroughly professional in the investigation. Even more, they were a reassuring, calming influence to people who need it badly.

Mattapoisett covers a big area of the map. There are many miles of roads and streets. If you attempt to cover them street by street, it would take the better part of a day and perhaps longer. A threat of the kind now active needs more than police surveillance. It needs the active cooperation of everyone in every neighborhood. Chief Moran emphasizes that if you see a vehicle that you do not recognize, jot down the license number and call for the cruiser to check it out. The same is true of strange individuals in a neighbor's yard at a time when you know them to be at work. Do not approach but notice any unusual features and call the police for a check-out. Equally important, secure your own home while away. Catalogue your valuables, take photos of larger objects and furniture and note serial numbers on the photo or on a separate list. The Mattapoisett police still have an operation identification engraver to loan to mark metal belongings with your social security number. For other valuables that would be ruined by such engraving, there is a pen available in stationery stores (Brink's Security Marking system) that leaves an invisible identification that appears under ultra violet light.

Chief Moran feels that more than one gang of thieves is responsible for the recent breaks. A recent article which appeared on Mattapoisett's wealth may well attract others; two breaks occurred immediately following the front page feature story.

Secure your valuables; secure your home; mark your identification on everything; never attempt to check out unusual activity in the neighborhood but first jot down any visible facts, numbers, and ID's; then call the cruiser to investigate.

The first thing people do following a robbery is to have a security system installed in their home. It might be well to consider such a device, if possible, if family members are habitually absent from home for a regular period of time during daylight hours.

"... AND THROW AWAY THE KEY!!"

As a Judge for 20 years
Henry Chmielinski knows how to deal with repeated, unspeakable offences.

Judge Henry Chmielinski put it very well the other day in Plymouth Superior Court when he sentenced a rapist-robber to a third life sentence. Then added 45 to 50 years to be sure the convict would never get out of jail and said the case was the best argument for capitol punishment I have seen in years. The prisoner, Robert Pacheco 19 of Taunton, was convicted of raping a blind girl. He was out on bail at the time pending disposition of two other cases of rape...on both of which he received life sentences.

Congressman
Gerry Studds
on Tuesday, November 2.

Congressman Studds:
He's earned your support.

Gerry Studds knows that being a good Congressman requires far more than simply understanding the legislative process.

He works hard at his job, and he does it very, very well.

But most of all, he cares deeply about Southeastern Massachusetts - about its people, about its priceless resources, about its future. Because of his dedication, his ability as a spokesperson, and his talent as a legislative craftsman, he has become one of the best Congressmen in America.

He's earned your support. And your vote on November 2nd.

tion and a statewide referendum as final steps for siting a nuclear power plant or a low-level radioactive waste disposal facility, or before joining a regional interstate waste disposal compact. On the surface, this appears to be the citizen's answer to decision making in these areas. In fact, Question 3 offers a poor solution to a complex problem.

If Question 3 is adopted, a statewide referendum would be required at the end of a long and complicated siting process. Wouldn't it be better to involve the public in the process from beginning to end?

We need a safe solution to the problem of low-level radioactive waste that is carefully developed and publicly acceptable. Massachusetts, currently facing a federal mandate requiring it to accept responsibility for disposing of low-level radioactive wastes generated within its borders, is negotiating with other northeastern states to provide the needed disposal capacity. Question 3, if passed, might seriously impair these efforts.

Disposal of radioactive waste is a complex, serious, important problem. I don't think the passage of Question 3 will solve it; I

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I am responding to the Lions' Club letter about removing the big slide from the playground. I agree with the people who chose to remove the slide.

As the director of Spev's Sitter Service, Inc. I deal with children and safety all day long. I am constantly learning which toys become unforeseen dangers to children.

I feel that the magnificence of the slide was overwhelming at the beginning. No one foresaw all the injuries that would befall the many children using it. I went up it myself with my toddlers and found it very wobbly and we felt insecure on it.

Please feel that all of your outstanding contributions to the town are well appreciated. Also be proud, however, that the town is also watching out for the safety of its children, and is obviously keeping a constant watch for dangers. You who are in the "business" of helping people surely cannot criticize the town for helping its children.

Please continue with all your wonderful, helpful projects and know that many parents feel a lot better about the playground now.

The Lloyd Center

There will be a Night Walk on Friday, October 29th, at the Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies, 430 Potomska Road, South Dartmouth.

During this walk we will explore the dark half of the Earth's 24-hour cycle, while following the Center's trails. We will search for evidence of the presence of the many creatures who become active during darkness. Discussion will center around their adaptations to functioning at night, as well as changes our own senses go through. The walk will end with a star-gazing session from the rooftop of the Center's building, where the absence of streetlights in the area makes for excellent viewing.

There is no fee for the Night Walk, but registration is required, as group size will be limited. The walk will begin at dusk and last approximately two hours. Please call the Center at 990-0505 for registration, and meeting time.

Thoughts at a Funeral

MATTAPOISETT HISTORICAL SOCIETY NOTES

It was on November 30, 1836 (in what is now the abandoned Mattapoisett Grange Hall) that the Rev. Dr. Thomas Robbins conducted the funeral service for his uncle, Minister LeBaron, who had served his people for 64 of his 90 years.

The men sitting here and listening while Parson Robbins reviewed the events of the long life, added to the eulogy, each with their own thoughts, some merely the incidents of the bustling and growing village or the "Nim-rod's" recent visit in the Bay when the British landed in 1814 to burn in Fairhaven and in Wareham.

"Those more retrospective might think how the center of the village, the church and the school used to be away to the west by the fork of the old roads and by the mills on the river. How the substantial men were the farmers of Hammondtown, and up the road to Rochester, and all over the two arms of the Neck, or when most of the food was raised or came in by packet.

"When there was no daily stage to Plymouth, Sandwich or Bridgewat[illegible]shments [illegible] mails came only once a week o[illegible] while. Land travel was only afoot or on horseback. The hogs and cattle roamed at will through the common lands with their owners' private marks cut in their ears. And some man might have smiled as he thought how the town once voted that all the men that owned swine should have their noses ringed!

Halloween Safety

Considering today's nationwide scare concerning poisoning of over the counter medications, Pilgrim Health Care would like to remind parents and children to take extra precautions this Halloween.

Children should stay in their own neighborhood and try to go with a partner or small group when trick or treating. Only approach lighted houses and stay on lighted streets. Carry a flashlight and wear a comfortable costume with reflectors on it so people in cars can easily see you.

Take a plastic bag for "goodies" since paper bags rip easily. Remember, do not accept unwrapped candy and let parents inspect candy, apples and other fruits carefully before eating. Fruit s with ruptured skins may have been tampered with. Oranges can easily be injected with alcohol or other drugs. To be safe, parents may opt to throw away all fruits.

Pilgrim Health Care, based in Middleboro, Mass., is a health maintenance organization serving southeastern Massachusetts.
